Valley landowners threatened by AB 15

AB 15, a bill designed to preserve prime agricultural land in California, could have bad effects on other agricultural land, according to rancher and realtor Vic Lund of Pleasanton.

Lund is secretary-tresurer of the Contra Costa-Alameda County Cattlemen's Association and a director of the California Cattlemen's Association.

Both cattlemen's groups are opposed to AB 15 which passed the Assembly last week and travels next to the Senate.

If AB 15 becomes law it won't have a direct effect on the valley, said Lund. Most of the prime agricultural land is irrigated feed, grazing and crop lands between Livermore and Pleasanton, much of it in ownership of the gravel companies, he said. Other spots are owned by the valley's wineries.

But the law could cause a secondary impact — doing away with the Williamson Act, which in turn would have an effect on valley ranchlands, said Lund.

"We think the bill will put pressure to possibly eliminate the Williamson Act on the rest of the land in the county," said Lund. "It would penalize agricultural land which is not prime land, and that is most of the open space land in the valley.

"It's not a matter of the legislature getting rid of the Williamson Act. The county can administer it locally or not allow it at all. But if AB 15 passes, it cuts into the tax base. It lowers assessments for the individual agricultural landowner, but other kinds of property have to pick that up," said Lund.

One way Alameda County government could pick up the difference is to drop agricultural properties out of the Williamson Act, said Lund.

The cattlmen's association's big concern is the effect on the state's tax base. There are also bills pending in the legislature to reduce homeowners' assessments, so the money will have to come from other types of property, said Lund.

The law could also have some long term effects which environmentalists would not like, said Lund. Most of California's prime agricultural irrigated land is on the valley floor. If that is preserved, people will have to start building houses on the hills, said Lund.

He envisioned the possibility that the Sierra foothills would develop in towns like Sonora and Angel's Camp because prime agricultural lands like those around Merced and Fresno could no longer be covered with housing.

Lund thinks the bill has a good chance of becoming law because it passed the Assembly, the bellwether for most legislation. The cattlemen will continue their fight, he said.

For lower taxes

Build businesses not homes, says McLain

PLEASANTON — The city should consider banning all residential construction until commercial and industrial growth catches up, Councilman Roger McLain suggested yesterday.

McLain, who is running for the first full term after filling out serving 10 months of former Councilman Floyd Mori's term, made the proposal at a press conference at his home yesterday.

McLain did not say he would stop development overnight, but made it clear he would like some kind of allocation plan for the future in which residential, commercial and industrial growth all occur.

If residential was the only sector where growth were occurring, he would shut it down until activity developed in the commercial and industrial sectors.

Asked why he didn't suggest the idea during his three year tenure on the planning commission, McLain said that as a planning commissioner he was concerned only about the maps submitted to the commission. It was not until he came to the city council nine or 10 months ago that he also had the city's tax base within his jurisdication, he said.

The issue of a relatively understaffed fire department, raised a week ago at the city council by the firefighters, citizens, and the staff, prompted him to come up with the new suggestion about typing residential growth to commercial and industrial, he said.

Asked if he fears lawsuits over shutting down residential development, McLain responded: "They sue us now over sewer connections we don't have. I hope we can enlist some cooperation from the developers. What sells a home better for them: higher taxes or lower taxes?"

The issue is the quality of city services — police, fire and park maintenance especially, said McLain.

To illustrate the importance of more commercial revenues to the city, McLain noted that some $70,000 worth of sales tax revenue was given to Dublin stores by Stoneridge and Highland Oaks residents who feel cut off from Pleasanton's shopping areas. That $70,000 could have paid for an additional three firemen, said McLain.

In conjuntion with his proposal, McLain intends to challenge Stoneson Corporation's request for single family housing in its area. The councilman is not happy with the developer's lack of progress on its proposed regional shopping center, he said.

If the city continues to build homes and relies on the regional center to bail it out on taxes, the city could be in for a big disappointment, said McLain. There are no hard and fast guarantees the center will be built, he said.

McLain does not know if his suggestion is legal or not. He mentioned the Petaluma growth regulation ordinance upheld by the courts. He feels that his is a variation on it and would stand up in court.

Assistant City Attorney Harvey Levine told The Times that the question would have to be researched, but it does not sound impossible. "You can probably do it, as long as people don't have vested rights in their property. It's a new area of the law and would require careful research," said Levine.

Midwinter blaze

A brush fire near Stanley Boulevard behind Irby's in Pleasanton was quickly controlled by firemen from Station No. 1 late yesterday. Two units and five men responded and extinguished the flames in about 20 minutes. No injuries were reported, and the cause of the fire was unknown.

Bates may be bypassed

Has Santana sunk Leyland?

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — Supervisor Tom Bates' attempt to seat Robert C. Leyland on the county planning commission via today's board meeting may have been undermined by fellow supervisor Charles Santana.

Santana will introduce a motion today to give the three supervisors with districts entailing unincorporated areas two appointments each to the planning commission, while the seventh seat is shared by the county's two urban-only representatives.

If passed the board policy would give the valley's John Murphy, Santana and Joseph Bort six of the seven appointments to the board, and force Bates to share a nomination with board chairman Fred Cooper.

Bates last week nominated Leyland, a Sierra Club member and environmentalist, to the expired term of commissioner James Zeno.

Breaking board protocol that holds a nomination near sacrosanct once it is made public, Murphy asked that the matter be continued to today's meeting for a full hearing on planning commission appointments.

The board traditionally has given two appointments to supervisors representing unincorporated areas. Redistricting last year added Bort to the roll of those board members.

In a letter to each board member Santana says he has "decided that given the current membership of the board, it is most practical to make a policy giving two appointees to each supervisor with unincorporated areas."

Bates, a lame duck since his announced candidacy for State Assemblymen, has never made an appointment to the planning commission and says he wants an environmentalist to be seated.

"It would be the first environmentalist appointment in the county's history," he said.

Leyland, 33, has served as Bates' environmentalist planning consultant. He currently is studying for his M.A. in geography from Cal State Hayward University, and expects his degree in September.

Supervisors send each other their prospective nominees' resumes on the Thursday preceding the regular Tuesday board meeting.

Murphy says he did not get Leyland's credentials until late Friday and immediately sent a note to Bates asking the Oakland supervisor to continue the nomination.

Bates claims he did not get the request until the meeting was underway.

"I don't like the idea (of Leyland's appointment)," said Murphy. He "seems to be someone who's made up his mind in advance. I've never seen him pro anything."

Leyland has appeared before the board before on behalf of environmentalist causes.

Bates and Murphy have been at odds since the Oakland representative wrote the Alameda County Grand Jury requesting an investigation into the near purchase of 56 acres in Pleasanton for an East County Government center. Murphy was a strong proponent of the purchase.

Cooper may solve the imbroglio and give Bates the appointment since the junior supervisor has not made one in the past.

But he also may accuse Bates of a lame duck appointment in saddling the board with a four year appointment before he leaves.

VCSD, Murray argue expenses

Who's to pay for recreation?

DUBLIN — Problems of scheduling and maintenance of Murray School district facilities when used for recreational events contintues to prove abrasive and unsolved.

The situation involving Valley Community Services District programs has existed for 10 or more years. The latter was recalled last night as VCSD and Murray board members met to discuss finances in areas of responsibility.

Ted Woy, Murray trustee, ultimately suggested an updating of an agreement supposedly consumated between the two agencies 10 years ago.

The problem is expected to be alleviated somewhat when Athan Downs and the Dublin Sports Grounds on Dublin Boulevard are completed.

Woy admitted that a strong argument could be made for dual usage of school grounds, but fellow trustee Peter Snyder later commented the school district did not have the funds to continue supporting activities not directly school related.

Business manager Phillip Chubb reminded VCSD directors that a five cent tax in the Murray budget was for community services and not recreation. This tax covers such jobs as noontime supervisors, grounds keeper and irrigation at two district schools in Pleasanton.

At the Murray board meeting following, trustees heard reports on ECE State evaluations by Ellen Nelson, principal at Frederiksen, and Ryan McKeon, principal at Cronin Both indicated very favorable reports by the two person State Education Department teams.

'Pawns' in New Town dispute

Pact on sphere offered

LIVERMORE — A mutually advantageous pact between the city and a representative of some Buena Vista Avenue residents was sealed unofficially at the city council meeting last night.

Buena Vista Avenue resident Valerie Raymond (who also is a candidate for the Alameda County Board of Supervisors) told the council her neighbors would be willing to remove their names from the petition asking LAFCO to remove their area from Livermore's sphere of influence.

This would be done, she explained, in return for the city designating on its General Plan map the Buena Vista area as rural residential and removing the proposed extension of Mines Road between Tesla Road and East Avenue.

The consensus of the council — in fact unanimous — clearly supported her proposal.

The Local Agency Formation Commission this afternoon will hold a hearing on where the boundaries for Livermore's sphere of influence should be. The decision was reopened in part due to a petition by land owners outside the city limits but inside the sphere.

Buena Vista residents put their names on a petition, but, according to Raymond, realized at the last LAFCO meeting they merely were being "used as pawns" in the controversy over who should develop the Las Positas Valley.

In addition to the council's support of her two suggestions the planning commission already has indicated it supports a rural residential designation for Buena Vista and opposes the extension of Mines Road.

The agreement between Raymond and the council was made at the second public hearing on Livermore's new General Plan held at the council level. Livermore attorney David Madis and Tesla Road resident John Migliore also addressed the council on the document.

The public hearing was continued to the Feb. 9 meeting, and will be the sole topic of discussion at the council meeting Feb. 17.

Amador tax hike action due tonight

The tax revenue limit increase proposal by the Amador Valley Joint High School District will come before the board for formal action at tonight's meeting.

Board members last week directed staff to prepare a resolution calling for a 75 cent-tax increase over three years — to be placed on the June ballot.

Amador trustees will gather at 8 p.m. in the District Educational Center, 123 Main St. in Pleasanton.

Tomorrow night, Pleasanton Joint School District trustees will formalize a 90-cent tax hike measure, over two years, for the June ballot. The Pleasanton board will also convene at the District Educational Center, but at 7:30 p.m.

A host of reports await Amador trustees tonight, including ones dealing with a follow-up on vocational education, food services, the P.E. Elective committee, and the 1974-75 audit.

Trustees are also slated to act on disposing of obsolete property in the district, a request for an out-of-state band trip and receive building and Valley High School reports.

On Wednesday, Pleasanton trustees will also get a 1974-75 audit report, and consider the textbook selection process.

Fairgrounds official named to regional board

Lee Hall, Alameda County Fair Association secretary-manager, was elected to a directorship at the recent Western Fairs Association convention last week in San Diego.

Hall is believed to be only the second local association representative to win a position on the board, which covers practically all western, midwestern and southern states in the United States plus eight provinces of Canada.

Makeup of the 12-person WFA board shows directors from Vancouver, British Columbia, Oklahoma City, Okla., and Casper, Wyo., and nine directors from California. Of the latter, eight are fair managers and just one a fair board director.

Hall is believed to be the only Alameda County Fair Association person to win a directorship beside Jim Trimingham, former Fair Association secretary-manager and WFA board president in 1971.

Hall out-polled Larry Gately, of the Contra Costa County Fair Association, for the position.

Hall said he intended to work toward providing improved representation of area fairs and to give fair board directors a greater representation on the WFA panel.

Ralph Hinds, secretary-manager of the Fresno District Fair, was elected WFA board president.

Three Alameda County Fair Association board members were honored for their service at the WFA convention.

Richard McCarthy, Oakland; William Ralph, Livermore, and Clark Redeker, Newark, were cited for 30, 30, and 20 years service, respectively.

Ralph currently serves on nine active Fair committees and is chairman of the agriculture committee and the antique and heritage committee.

He served as president of the Fair for four years from 1958 until 1962. Ralph is also a 52-year member of the Farm Bureau and a member of the Cattlemen's Association.

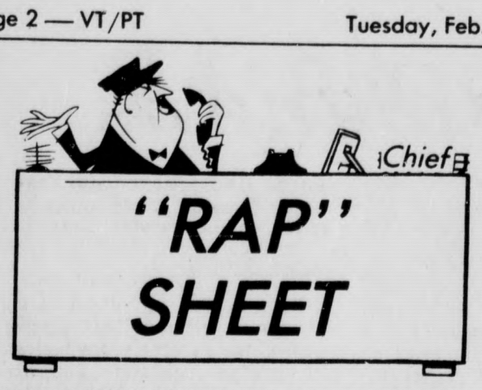
McCarthy serves on eight active Fair committees. He is now chairman of the bicentennial committee and entertainment committee of the Alameda County Fair. For two years, 1967 and 68, he was president of the Fair Association.

McCarthy is also a former Grand President of the Native Sons of California and, appointed by the Governor, served eight years as chairman of the State Historical Landmark Committee. On top of all this, he is also director of the Alameda County Historical Society.

Redeker was honored for 20 years as a Fair director amidst the bicentennial gala surrounding the 53rd annual WFA convention Jan. 25-28.

Currently the chairman of the personnel committee for the Fair, Redeker also serves on six active committees.

He also was president of the Fair for two years, 1973 and 74, and served as chairman of five fair committees in the last 20 years.



Narcotics bust nets Livermore couple Saturday

LIVERMORE — Police officers arrested a husband - wife team Saturday night and booked them on suspicion of possessing a large quantity of amphetamines for sale.

Officer Dan Killeen, who directed the investigation and subsequent arrest, said he had been watching the pair for several months. He obtained a search warrant from Fremont Municipal Judge Roy Pucci Saturday based on the lengthy investigation.

Arrested at their 1259 Lillian St. home were Johnny Joe Thompson, 35, and his wife, Hazel, 33, the parents of five children. Officers seized a quantity of amphetamines both in the house and on Thompson with a total street value of about $400.

Thompson and his wife were booked on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs, possession for sale, and possession of related narcotics paraphernalia. Bail was set at $7,250 for each.

Police expect more breaks in the case as the investigation is continued.

Two inmates escape from Santa Rita

PLEASANTON — Two men convicted of burglary escaped from the minimum security facility at the Santa Rita Rehabilitation Center Sunday night.

Missing are Kirk Emerick, 20, of 2223 Santa Rita Road in Pleasanton, and Joseph Medeiros, 19, of 1025 Elm St. in Livermore. Both men were serving time for burglary convictions and were scheduled to be released in November.

A jail spokesman said the men hopped the north fence near the facility to escape. They were discovered missing at the 10 p.m. accounting.

This was the fifth escape from Santa Rita this year, including one from the maximum security facility, the first such breakout in five years.

Blood analyzing machines stolen from hospital lot

LIVERMORE — Two blood analyzing machines valued at $676 were stolen from Fred Dale Rodrigues' car while it was parked in Valley Memorial Hospital's rear parking lot Friday.

Rodgrigues said his wife had driven the car to the hospital where she works, and discovered the car had been ransacked upon her return.

One machine, an Accustat Analzer, is worth $442. The other, a Triac Centrifuge, is valued at $234. Police have no suspects.

PLEASANTON — A Sanyo 19" color television worth $318 was taken from Margaret Hale's Golden Street apartment last week.

Burglars entered the apartment by unknown means, took only the television and left. Police theorize the thieves might have had keys to the residence.

There are no suspects in the case.

Mori backs agriculture bill

With "deep reservations" about its impact on local governing prerogative and individual property rights, Assemblyman Floyd Mori, Thursday supported Assembly passage of legislation designed to protect prime agricultural land.

Assembly Bill 15 by Assemblyman Charles Warren (D-Los Angeles), which passed the Assembly by a vote of 41-36, creates a State Agricultural Resources Council which would prepare detailed maps of prime farmland and develop regulations which limit its use to agricultural purposes.

"Virtually no one argues with the goal to preserve our prime agricultural lands for the production of food and fiber," said Mori. "Our $8.5 billion agricultural industry is the economic backbone of California."

"When it was originally introduced, the broad public interest objectives seemed to conflict with the rights of cities to determine their shapes and sizes and the rights of private property owners to determine the use of their land," he said.

"I am satisfied that the added provisions to AB 15 strike an equitable balance among these conflicting interests."

Mori said he decided to give his tentative approval to the legislation after Warren personally pledged to seek amendments to maintain local planning control, eliminate tax impacts on non - prime land and assure adequate revenue flow to local governments.

Mori said he would have an opportunity to review the measure when it returns from the Senate.

French restaurant going up soon

PLEASANTON — "La Rochelle," featuring Italian and French cuisine, will be opening in late summer on St. Mary Street in downtown Pleasanton.

Groundbreaking took place Monday morning, complete with Maid of Pleasanton Lori Hickman weilding the gilded shovel. "La Rochelle" means "Little Rock" in French, and there were plenty of small boulders on the site to remind the prospective owners that they plan to have a rock garden as part of the landscaping.

The restaurant is planned to seat about 90 patrons. Medium-priced lunches and dinners will be served six days a week, including freshly baked pastries. A cocktail lounge will adjoin the dining area.

Lunch will be served 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., dinner 5-10 p.m. The restaurant will be at 348 St. Mary St.

Co-owners are Gloria and Jerry Bindi, former owners of "La Petite" in Oakland: Luigi Bruno and John Ciarabelli.

LLL plans museum

LIVERMORE — A visitor center, designed to acquaint the community with research efforts now conducted under wraps, is being constructed at Lawrence Livermore Laboratory.

Located on lab property off Greenville Road, the three-stage center is scheduled to be opened by July 1.

Center supervisor Lorene Inslee, staff assisant in the Human Resources and Labor Relations Division, said the center will be open to employes, their families, and the community at large.

It will be the first time many people have ever stepped inside the guarded laboratory to get a glimpse of what goes on.

Ultimately the center will be composed of three units. One area will contain a large multi-media presentation of on-going research at LLL.

The main building will house static and "hands on" displays.

"The static displays will be pictures and graphic presentations," said Inslee. "The hands on displays are just that — things you can touch, buttons to press, levers to pull so the visitor can get the feel for lab programs, and for science."

The displays will be updated as the lab's research effort changes.

The first increment will be open by July 1. If funding is available and "all goes according to plan," Inslee said the second and third stages should be opened by October 1977.

Inslee said the center will be open seven days a week and will be staffed by five or six people.

"It's important to have the center open on the weekends, because that is when most people will be able to come. We hope someday the center will be an attraction for people throughout the Bay Area. They can come spend a Sunday here, learn about the lab, and let the lab share its programs with the public," said Inslee.

The center will be utilized in technology transfer as well, making it easier to bring in visitors without interrupting research efforts.

The last class for Hotline's "Assertiveness Training PLUS" will begin Tues., Feb. 3, at the Shannon Center in Dublin from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The training group meets once a week for five weeks and is provided free of charge.

"Assertiveness Training PLUS" is a free communications program for parents, offering some ways to learn to say "no" (or "yes") appropriately, firmly and without getting angry. The training is based on the idea that parents who are calmly and assertively able to set realistic goals and limits for themselves project self-respect and are more self - actualizing. They will also be good models for their children.

The program is open to parents of students (K-12) in Livermore, Pleasanton or Dublin. No registration is necessary.

HOW TO LIVE AND LIKE IT
By Dr. William Hoffert, CHIROPRACTOR

Man-Caused Headaches Are Children-Caused

To further the theory that many a chronically recurring headache originated in the neck, a Livermore chiropractor has studied headache prone children.

They all had recurring headaches of adult type without apparent cause.

Dr. W.H. Hoffert, D.C., who has given years to the riddle of headaches, reports his results after extensive case history evaluation. He became interested in children because so many adult patients trace their chronic headaches to childhood and because children's necks are subject to hazards unknown to adults.

Children wrestle and their necks get twisted. Children fall from bicycles and sleds, sometimes on their neck. Children can get hit on their neck with baseball bats and other sticks.

Pain and stiffness in the neck disappear in a day or two and the injury is forgotten. But that slight injury can be permanent and flower periodically into headaches, according to theory.

The spine has a curve in it, the "lordotic curve." A twisted neck could lessen or sharpen the curve. Or a mild neck injury could be to the ligaments.

"The neck must be considered a prime suspect in every headache case of unknown origin in children as well as adults," Dr. Hoffert reports.

"And pain killers aren't the answer for either adults or their offspring. The Band - Aide approach to the recurring headache is ridiculous. Remember, you can't cover them over forever."

Dr. Hoffert urges chiropractic care for headaches, pointing to chiropractic's track record in immediate and sympathetic care.

Dr. Hoffert maintains chiropractic offices at 2602 First Street, Livermore, CA. Telephone 447-8800.

International fare to tantalize NSSF guests

Twenty-five of the valley's most skilled cooks are stirring, baking and freezing in preparation for the annual membership party for the Nursery School Scholarship Fund set Saturday, Feb. 7 at the Livermore's Wente Winery.

The popular event which draws full - capacity crowds each year features a fabulous array of delectable international hors d'oeuvres and appetizers served with appropriate wines fron 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. It is unquestionably one of the culinary highlights of the year locally.

The impetus for the incredible ado is the Nursery School Scholarship Fund, a national pilot program which provides a year of pre-school education for children of low income families who may be non - English - speaking, culturally disadvantaged or culturally different. It's a Headstart Program unique to the valley which presently assists 44 children in nursery schools at Livermore, Pleasanton and Dublin.

Ann Wallstedt, Olga Shearer and other NSSF volunteers turned out hundreds of small Russian pastries known as Beurek and Polish Piroshki's as part of their contribution to the upcoming membership party at the Wente Winery at Livermore.

Greek taste treat

Jan Brice, chairman of the NSSF membership party planned this Saturday, sends the following recipe for Greek Sarma with the encouraging assurance that the unusual fare — stuffed grape leaves — is actually not difficult to make.

"The recipe originally came from a cook at a Greek Orthodox Church fair through Olga Shearer," Jan explains. "In this day and age of ready-made, the idea of wrapping grape leaves around stuffing intimidates people into thinking its difficult. Really, it's fun, and relaxing like therapy."

DEREVI SARMA, GREEK

1 cup rice, washed
3 cups onions, chopped
¾ cup olive oil
½ cup finely chopped parsley
1 tsp. dill
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. pepper
½ tsp. crushed mint leaves
¼ cup currants
½ cup pine nuts
juice of one lemon
1 cup water
dash cayenne pepper (opt.)

Saute onions in olive oil for 10 minutes. Add rice, dill, salt, pepper, mint and blend. Add lemon and water, mix again. While mixture simmers (stir occasionally), prepare grape leaves from jar or can. Rinse each leaf and spread on paper towel to drain. When rice has absorbed liquid, remove mixture from heat, add parsley, currants and pine nuts. Mix and let cool.

To fill and wrap leaves: lay a leaf on a cutting board, cut out thick stem or vein, place a teaspoonful of filling in center of leaf and fold over sides, then roll. Place layers of sarma in five - quart dutch oven, after covering bottom with a layer of broken or torn leaves. Alternate the direction of sarma with each layer.

Pour at least one cup boiling water over sarma, drizzle with olive oil. Place a heavy plate on top of the last sarma layer, and add enough hot water to come to edge of plate. Cover pot with lid and simmer for 45 minutes. Cool sarma completely before removing from pot, and store in refrigerator. Flavor will mellow if made in advance.

And such ado!

The recipes are carefully planned to be a mixture of hot and cold, sweet and sour, finger food and spreadables. Old favorites are repeated, and new recipes added each year, Dee Wilson reports.

Some recipes cannot freeze, so Barbara Tuck, NSSF president, will spend that very afternoon whipping up Chinese Fried Won Ton to be hot and savory for guests at the membership party.

Other recipes are better when the flavors blend for a day or two, so Judy Lougheed and Sue Steinberg will make their renowned Swedish Shrimp Mousse a day ahead.

One of the new recipes this year will be a Finnish Caviar Mold brought by Sue Steinberg. Another new recipe will be Greek Sarma first tasted by NSSF members at a Greek fair in Oakland (see accompanying recipe).

Mary Ringel and Maria Elena Flores, mothers whose children attend schools under the NSSF scholarships are planning to make several hundred sweet Mexican Bunuelos. The Russian Piroski and Turkish Beurek made by Olga Shearer are such favorites that she plans to make a total of 1400 so guests can have at least two apiece.

This year the table decoration will be done by John Bird of the new Flying Chef cookware shop in Livermore. He will display a variety of international cooking implements in keeping with the party's theme.

With just a half-hour between winery closing time, and the opening of the doors for the NSSF party, the organizers will have to work at top speed. Both hot and cold dishes will be brought out regularly throughout party hours so that there will always be a good sampling of appetizers available.

It is important to note that tickets at $3.50 per person are limited and must be purchased in advance. They may be obtained at the Misty Gardens and Book Haven, the Flying Chef (both in Livermore) or from Judy Lougheed at 443-1384, or Bareara Tuck at 846-6031.

General chairman for the event is Jan Brice. Cooks include May Tilles, Vange Jones, Betty Jeager, Peggy Volponi, Helen Phillips, Margie Leider and those mentioned above.

The secret's in the leaves

NSSF Member Dee Wilson, a cook with many years experience in preparing Greek sarma, remembers collecting grapes leaves from the vine in the early spring with her family.

"It is very important that the leaves be gathered in the very early spring, when they are young and tender," she advises. "The grape leaves for sarma can be gathered at no other time of year, because they toughen as they age on the vine.

"My parents would gather the leaves and string them together in groups of ten for easy inventory, and hang them to dry in the attic. When dry they would store them carefully in boxes, and use them throughout the year."

To prepare them for use in the sarma recipe, the dried leaves can be steamed or boiled.

In another method of preserving grape leaves, the leaves are packed in spiced water. This is the way the leaves are commercially prepared for sale.

YWCA expands youth program into valley

A program to help troubled youth has received $47,000 in Alameda County revenue - sharing funds to expand its services into an area which includes Pleasanton, Dublin and Livermore, it was announced.

Sponsor of the program is the South County YWCA, headquartered in San Lorenzo, which has piloted the program for pre-deliquent girls on a limited scale for the past few years in Fremont, Hayward and San Lorenzo.

The grant of federal revenue - sharing money was the largest allocated at this time to a community service program by the county board of supervisors, and only one of two grants to programs in the South County area, according to YWCA Executive Director Cyd Beth Nepon.

Under the program, the YWCA Youth Service Program works closely with local junior high schools in organizing five groups of girls, approximately eight to a group, which meet with a YWCA - employed counselor on campus for 10 weeks.

The program is designed as a prevention and early delinquency detection measure, reaching adolescent girls who have been minimally involved with law enforcement officials, according to Ms. Nepon. Counseling is geared toward discovering the source of conflict and providing outlets for expression.

"The main focus of the program will be to help the girls build a positive feeling about themselves, and provide a safe setting where they can express themselves," explained Ms Nepon. It is hoped the program will help the girls develop skills to solve their problems, offer them good personal contacts and prevent a feeling of isolation, she went on.

With the county revenue - sharing funds, the program will be in a position to accept referrals from police youth services, school attendance review boards, school personnel and students themselves. Referrals will include youth who have committed status (non - criminal) offenses such as running away from home, first-time criminal offenders and others identified as pre-deliquent by the above sources.

"Teenage girls show a higher incidence of status offenses than boys," Ms. Nepon reports. "Although juvenile delinquency reaches a peak among youth of 15 or 16 years of age, the rate of delinquency begins to climb among youth of 11 and 12 years. It is this group of junior high school students we wish to reach before they become a problem to the community."

In expanding into the valley, the YWCA Youth Services Program will hire several half-time counselors and one full-time office assistant. Applicants for the counseling positions must have a masters degree in counseling or a related area, and two years of group experience (or the equivalent in experience). Program Coordinator Shelley Roselyn will accept resumes or inquiries at 278-3180.

With the additional personnel, the program will be able to handle follow-up counseling with families of youth who participate. An ad hoc Youth Advisory Committee will be formed to coordinate YWCA services with existing services, to avoid duplication and pool resources.

The YWCA is also anticipating a similarly-oriented summer program for boys and girls, according to Ms. Nepon.

The expansion of this youth program represents the first step in a major extension of YWCA services to the valley, the executive director announced. Establishing community support of the YWCA will be important, as the program cannot expect to rely on revenue - sharing funds indefinitely, she added.

Dollar reports

PLEASANTON — Council candidate Gene Finch received $512 in contributions to date, all of the proceeds from a white elephant sale.

Finch and another candidate, Robert Artebery, turned in their statements one week late. The deadline for first reports on the campaign expenses was Jan. 22.

Attebery reported no expenses and no contributions to that date.

Campaign law requires candidates to list the names, addresses and occupations of campaign donors. Finch reported on his statement that at his fund - raising white elephant sale, "the majority of people paid cash and would not reveal names, occupations or other information requested." The largest single purchase was $30 and most of the sales averaged from $5 to $8, said Finch.

Jordan tax axe

PLEASANTON — City council candidate Jim Jordan promises to change some of the words in the city government's lexicon.

"I will substitute 'reduced spending' for 'finding new sources of revenue', substitute 'staff studies' for 'hiring a consultant,' and substitute 'positive leadership' for 'rubber stamp'," Jordan promised.

"When economic times are tough, we've got to look for ways, painful as they may be, to cut city spending," said Jordan. "We can't keep passing increased costs of government on to the homeowner. Since we're no longer growing at a rapid pace, we'll have to lower our sights a little or we won't be prepared for the eventual day of reckoning."

Jordan, a spectator at the 1975-76 tax rate hearings several months ago, says he finds it incredible that no public participation at those hearings was interpreted by the council to mean that citizens wouldn't mind the 16 cent city tax rate increase.

"I just got my tax bill and the rationalization of one councilman that I should be relieved that the tax rate didn't go up to the allowable limit is a lot of baloney. No matter what the increase it is a pretty bitter pill to swallow during times of inflation and recession," said Jordan.

If elected, Jordan promises to let all other valley taxing agencies know that Pleasanton is fighting the high cost of government, inflation, recession, and waste and is anxious for them to follow suit with spending cuts or limitations at the least.

Jordan — industry

PLEASANTON — City council candidate Jim Jordan promises personally to ask businesses to consider Pleasanton for their new locations.

Jordan said in a press release that nothing has been done in Pleasanton to attract clean light industry to the city despite the city's $7,600 promotional budget for 1975-76.

"A former staff member admits that he knows of no letters generated by the council, staff or the Chamber of Commerce to get this job done," said Jordan.

According to Jordan, there are many uses for the prime commercial, land adjacent to Tennis Town. "Computers, electronics, and printing companies or sales offices for national companies are some of the businesses that I will contact in my efforts," said Jordan.

"Eventually increased property tax and sales tax revenues will broaden the Pleasanton tax base enough to reduce homeowner property tax burdens or allow for expansion of city services such as increased police and fire protection," said the candidate.

Amador trustees ponder tax hike

The tax revenue limit increase election proposed last week and a host of reports will occupy Amador Valley Joint High School District board members when they meet today at the school district offices in Pleasanton.

Superintendent Bruce Newlin last week recommended trustees consider a tax measure on the June ballot. After a review of the study budget, and despite miscalculations by the staff that looked to ease the financial burden, board members decided to call for a tax revenue ballot measure that would raise 75 cents over a period of three years.

The Pleasanton school board, which meets Wednesday night at the District Education Center, will follow suit and act on a resolution clearing the way for a 90 cents - over - three - years tax hike — also on the June ballot.

Pleasanton trustees convene at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday.

Also scheduled for the Amador agenda are building, Valley High, food services, 1975-75 audit, P.E. Elective committee, and disposal of obsolete property reports.

Trustees also will act on a request for the Amador Valley High School Golden Don band to travel to New Westminister, British Columbia, May 19-22, for an exchange visit.

The New Westminister and Rowland Heights, Ca., prep bands will come to Pleasanton earlier this spring.

Pleasanton board members are also slated to review a resolution calling for a tax revenue limit increase election.

Reports from Walnut Grove School, the 1974-75 annual audit, and food services are also on the agenda. The textbook selection process will be outlined.

AIR CALIFORNIA
We're easy to take.

A report to the community from the West's oldest Bank.

Every business has responsibilities to the communities in which it operates. That's why it's a matter of considerable pride to us that Wells Fargo — instrumental in the beginnings of so many western communities — is still involved, still striving to fulfill its responsibilities to its customers and neighbors of today.

- In 1975, Wells Fargo expanded its commitment to California housing by making residential real estate loans totaling more than $200 million.
- The Bank welcomed its one-millionth passbook savings depositor in 1975, and consumer savings and time deposits rose by $600 million to total just under four billion dollars.
- Loans to individuals to finance a wide variety of goods and services from automobiles to home improvement loans remained an important function of Wells Fargo's 319 branch offices throughout the state. Last year, more than $650 million worth of new loans were made in this category.
- The Reward Account, introduced in mid-1975, joined the Bank's innovative Gold Account as a convenient method of establishing a complete banking relationship.
- Small and medium-size businesses in the state were aided by two new services introduced in 1975. The Bank's Cash Mover service enabled businessmen to efficiently earn interest on cash funds not immediately needed in operations. With its new Wellservice system, the Bank is bringing to merchants and consumers the benefit of electronics to expedite purchases made with a check or credit card.
- Wells Fargo employment — which includes affirmative action hiring and promotion programs — reached a total of 12,200 people at year's end.

Responsiveness to customers' needs and a dedication to excellence and innovation in providing banking services enabled Wells Fargo & Company to earn more than $56 million in 1975. Of this amount $38 million was added to the Bank's capital, providing an expanded base for financing the future needs of individuals and businesses in California, the Nation and the World. The remainder, $19,219,000, was paid in dividends to our 18,000 stockholders of whom 14,000 are Californians. Equity capital now totals over one half billion dollars, making Wells Fargo one of the strongest financial institutions in the Nation.

These were just a few of the highlights from a year which we believe continued our 124-year tradition of service to the community. If you wish further details on Wells Fargo & Company, please ask for a copy of our 1975 Annual Report — ready for distribution in March.

District pushes for bill

LIVERMORE — Representatives from the Livermore Unified School District are plumping for Senate Bill 1599, a major school finance bill introduced by Sen. Jerry Smith (D-Saratoga).

A group from the district met last week with state lawmakers to push in person for passage of the bill.

Introduced at the request of the Association of Low Wealth School Districts (of which the LVUSD is a member at an annual cost of $1,250), the bill is designed to meet the "Serrano-Priest" court decision and would provide about $250 million of additional state aid for low wealth districts, including Livermore and Murray in Dublin, beginning with the coming fiscal year in July.

According to Livermore school superintendent Leo Croce, the bill is designed to eliminate the current disparities in per - pupil revenues and expenditures from one school district to the next because of extreme variation in assessed valuations.

To illustrate the disparities that exist, Croce said the San Leandro Unified School District, with a high assessed valuation, is able to spend $1,467 per pupil with a tax rate of $2.84 per $100 assessed valuation, while neighboring Hayward taxes at a much higher $4.528 and only spens $1,022.

The Livermore school tax rate is $4.33 and spends $1,019 per pupil.

A form of power equalizing that would guarantee all school districts the same income per pupil for any given property rate would make the rituation fairer, said Croce.

The power - equalizing feature would be phased in over a five-year period along with a statewide property tax of $1 ($2.32 elementary and $1.68 high school) which would replace the existing local school taxes.

Other features of the bill:

- More money for districts like Livermore and Murray currently below the statewide average in per-pupil expenditure;
- An add-on range within which districts between 100 and 150 per cent of the new level of support may increase expenditures up to an additional 10 per cent by local board action;
- An additional inflation adjustment similar to that of cities and counties, that is, based on assessed value increase or cost of living increase whichever is greater;
- Limitation on very high spending districts except for increases permitted under the current law.

The Sacramento visit was an activity of the Association of Low Wealth School districts. Local citizens are invited to join the effort to equalize the school-tax burden.

Livermore Unified School District officials Bruce Jamieson (left), finance chief, and Zoe Ann Murray, a teacher serving on the district's subcommittee on budget and finance, met with state Sen. Jerry Smith (D-Saratoga) on their recent trip to Sacramento.

County postage bill up 30 per cent

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — The $5 or $6 the average family will have to spend in the next six months to cover the increased cost of postage pales before the county's net bill of $108,725.

The 30 percent increase did not catch the county short, however. Some $1400 was set aside in contingency funds last year to cover the expected increase.

Last week the board of supervisors authorized county administrator Loren Enoch to transfer the necessary funds to the appropriate county agencies.

Of the total $148,400 transfer, $39,675 will be reimbursed through State and federal subsidies. The county's net bill comes to $108,725, but only for postage through June 30.

County social services agencies will get the largest chunk of money, nearly $53,000. State and federal subsidies in those fields amount to nearly $40,000, however.

The registrar of voters' office will need $40,000 to carry it through the end of the fiscal year, and the county assessor $18,500.

Postage for the Livermore - Pleasanton Municipal Court will cost an additional $1,000.

Reduce your fuel bills—and save money!

Replacing heater filters monthly will save on fuel.

Don't be fuelish— Be energetic!

If you're rendered speechless at the sight of your utility bill during the winter months, you'll be interested to know there is something you can do about it.

Oh, sure, you've heard it said you should lower your thermostat to 68 degrees during the day and 60 degrees at night. But did you know that if these setting changes reduce the temperature an average of six degrees, heating costs should run about 15 per cent less?

And everyone knows you should eliminate unnecessary trips in the car. But are you aware that if every automobile consumed just one less gallon of gasoline each week, the nation would save about 5.2 billion gallons per year, or about seven per cent of the total passenger car demand for gasoline?

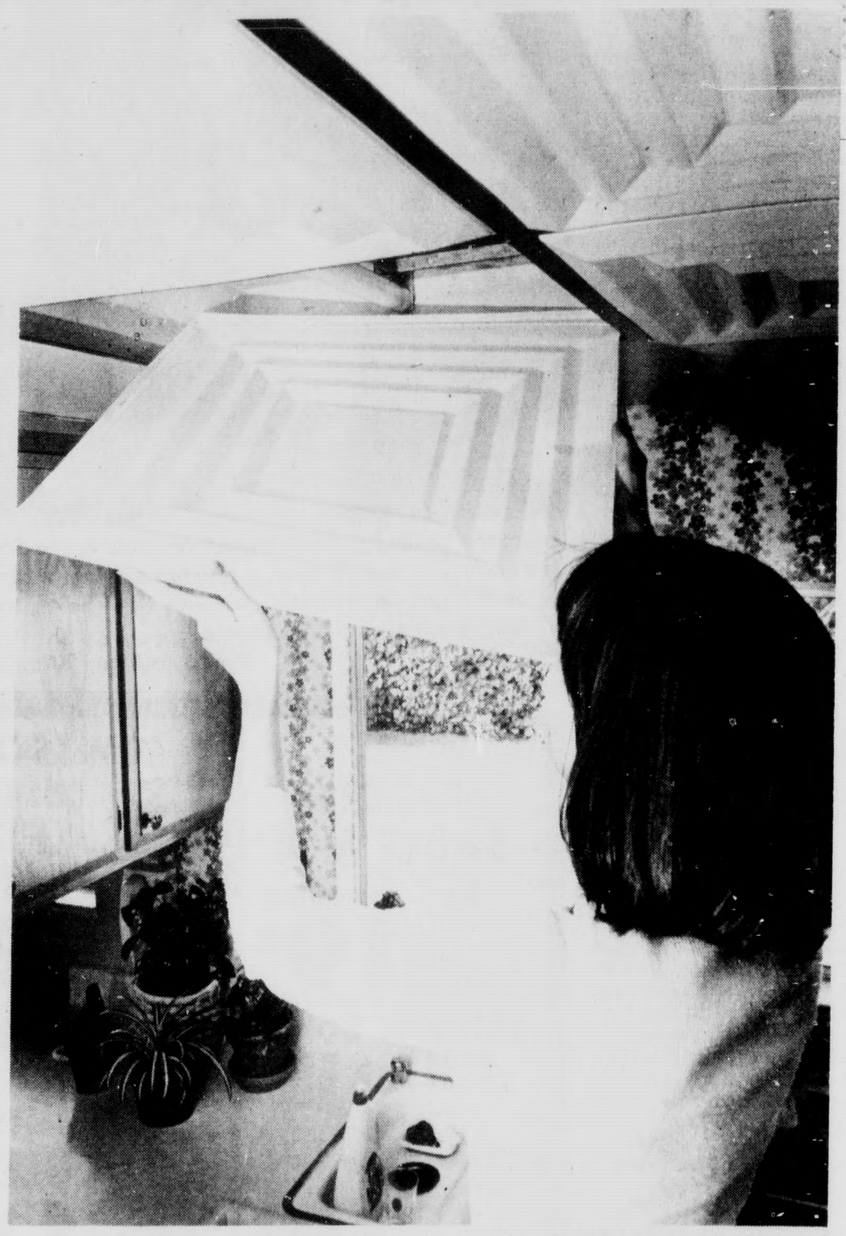
There are many other ways that you, the consumer, can be energy-wise, not fuelish. The Times would like to share some of the Federal Energy Administration's suggestions to reduce your fuel bill, and conserve our country's dwindling energy resources.

INSULATION

- Caulk and weatherstrip doors and windows. This inexpensive step can reduce your enprgy costs by ten per cent or more.
- Insulate the attic and wall. Installation of mineral wool, glass fiber, or cellulose insulation to a depth of six inches in the attic could lower your heating costs by 20 per cent.

LIGHTING

- Remove one bulb out of three; replace bulbs with the next lower wattage. Be sure to replace the removed bulb with a burned-out bulb for safety. This could save four per cent in electricity costs in the average home.
- Use fluorescent lights where feasible, such as in the kitchen and bathroom. They give off more lumens per watt than an incandescent bulb.
- Use one large bulb instead of several small ones. A larger bulb is more efficient.
- Dirt absorbs light so keep lamps and light fixtures clean.
- Install solid-state dimmer switches. They allow more efficient use of light.



Using fluorescent lights instead of incandescent bulbs saves energy.

AROUND THE HOME

- Close off unoccupied rooms.
- Repair leaky faucets as soon as possible.
- Be sure your fireplace damper is closed when not in use. If it isn't, heated air will escape through the chimney.
- Have your furnace serviced once a year. Adjustment could reduce your fuel consumption as much as ten per cent.
- Clean or replace your filter in forced-air heating systems every month.
- Open drapes and shades in sunny windows during the day. Close them at night.
- If you're cold, put on a sweater — don't turn up the thermostat.

KITCHEN, BATH AND LAUNDRY

- Run your dishwasher only when full. Let dishes air dry.
- Defrost your refrigerator after more than one-quarter inch of frost accumulates.
- Use flat bottom pans that cover the burner. More heat enters the pot and less is lost into the air.
- Wash clothes in warm or cold water, rinse in cold. You'll save money and energy.
- Remove clothes from the dryer as soon as they are dry, to reduce running time.
- Invest in an "old-fashioned" clothesline, and let your clothes dry outside.
- Separate drying loads into light and heavy items. Lighter ones take less drying time.
- Buy clothes that require little or no ironing.
- Showers use less water than tubs, so take more showers than tub baths.

GARDEN

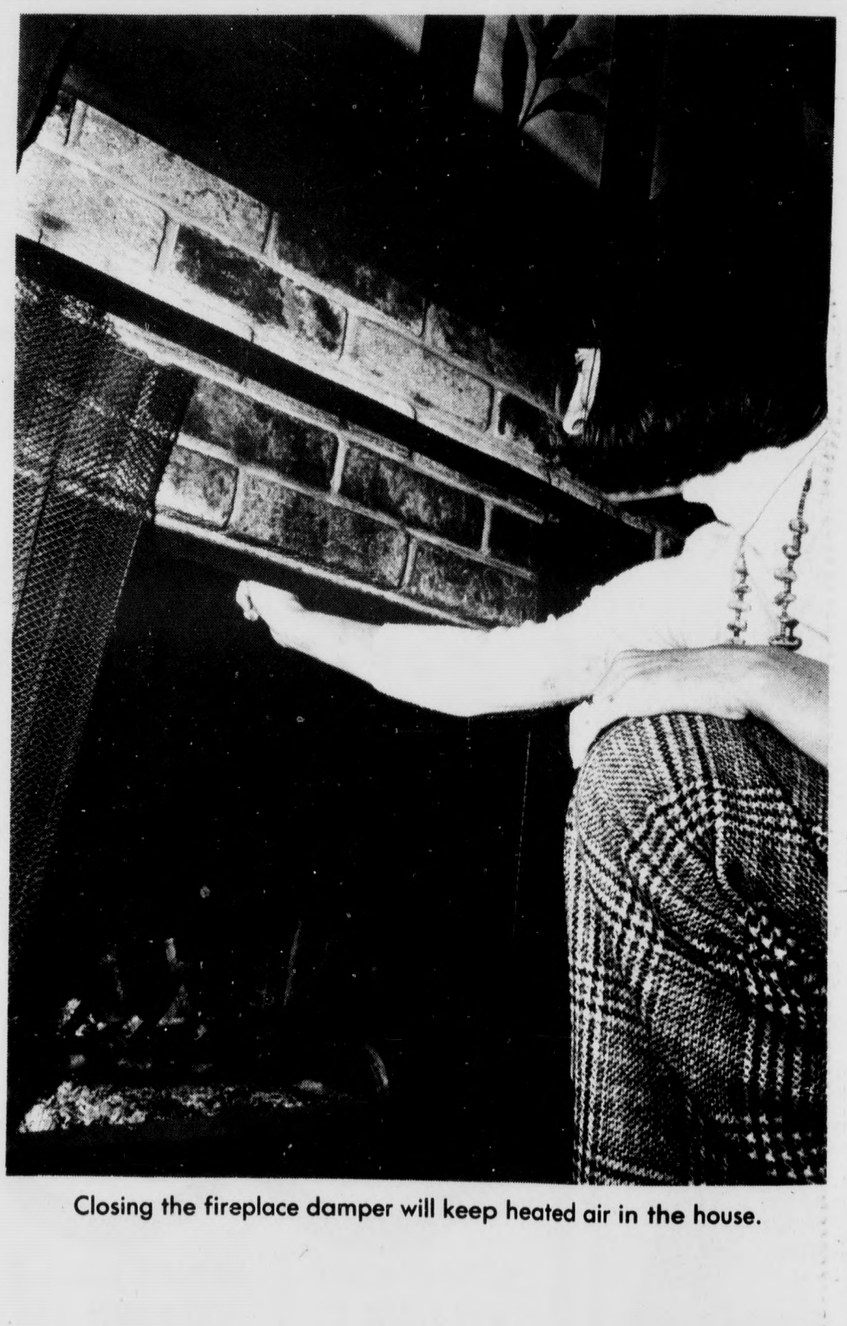
- Use hand tools, hand lawn mowers, pruners, and clippers when possible. You'll save energy and get exercise.
- Plan now to plant trees on the south and west sides of homes to provide shade against the summer sun.

AUTOMOBILE

Have your car tuned up regularly and you'll save as much as ten per cent on gasoline costs.

- Don't let your motor idle for more than a minute. It takes less gasoline to restart the car than it does to idle.
- Don't overfill your gas tank. Remove the hose when the automatic valve closes to eliminate any spillage.
- Check your tire pressure regularly. Under-inflation of tires can reduce gas mileage.

Checking tire pressure will insure maximal gas mileage.



Closing the fireplace damper will keep heated air in the house.

Lowering your thermostat (left) both day and night can save up to 15 per cent on your fuel bill, and using hand tools (right) instead of power trimmers will save energy and keep you in shape.

For Tuesday, Feb. 3, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Rewards will come in small portions today but don't be dismayed. The ladder of success is mounted a rung at a time.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You may have an opportunity today to put to use something taught to you by a friend. It should work just as well for you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) In career or financial matters don't be reluctant to bargain. Every little advantage helps.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you honor your promises to the letter today you'll gain even greater respect than you already enjoy.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Though you would probably be more generous if roles were reversed, one who'll do you a favor today is being as magnanimous as she can be.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You may have to make a rather difficult decision today. If you're sure it's best for all, stand by your guns.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Get an early start today. Concentrate on worthwhile projects. A lot can be accomplished if you put your mind to it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A serious matter has a good chance of being resolved today if discussed in a pleasant atmosphere. Invite the other party to lunch or dinner.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Don't give up prematurely today if things don't go your way at first. The final score should please you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Carefully screen propositions offered you today. They could contain advantages for you that they don't for another.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Two sources for gain may present themselves today. One will be through normal channels, the other from an unexpected area.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Others will find you very compatible today. Whether it's a young group or an older one, you'll enjoy a good rapport.

Projects in which you've invested a great deal of time should bear fruit this coming year. Skim the cream off the top before engaging in new ventures.

Wanda White of Dallas lets her advanced pupils have the fun of bidding and playing today's hand.

At least the bidding is fun. Practically all of them arrive at six spades. The slam contract is not a good one, but most of the world's best players would also find their way to that unsound contract.

The play is no fun for them. They all lose a heart trick and trump trick.

Then Wanda points out that some chance to make a contract is better than no chance and the contract can be made.

The jack of trumps is led from dummy at trick two. If East ducks the jack is allowed to ride. If East covers South wins picks up West's doubleton 10-9 and makes the contract.

The play might also work against queen-nine-small in the East hand. East might not cover the jack with that holding.

A Louisiana reader wants to know if we have found a particular suit to be lucky for us.

The answer is yes. Spades are our lucky suit. This isn't a matter of superstition. They are lucky for everyone because they outrank the other three.

SR football post still vacant

Only a perfunctory search has been launched for Fred Houston's replacement as football coach at San Ramon High School.

As of now, 25 or 30 men have phoned to inquire about the position, open since Houston was fired sometime in the last week of November by principal Jim Henderson.

The names of all inquirees have been duely logged and filed away.

But it will be at least April 1, Henderson says, before he can begin interviewing coaching prospects.

One man already on the San Ramon payroll has expressed interest in taking over for Houston, who was fired for his failure to "get along" with assistants, and for affording favorable treatment to his players.

But Henderson says he won't hire the unnamed coach without first interviewing candidates from outside the school. And therein lies the real problem.

It's not certain at this point that a faculty position will be open for a new employe next fall. And Henderson insists that the coaching job be tied to a full time teaching post as well.

So until it's determined whether an opening will arise (probably by April 1) the hiring process is stalled.

"I know it's important to make a decision with spring practice coming up," Henderson said yesterday; "but it's a matter of being patient. I'm committed to having a choice. I have to look at more than one person for the job.

"The longer we wait, the more it's going to hurt us next year," Henderson admitted. "But the decision has got to be based on what's best for the long haul."

Houston served as San Ramon coach since 1960, and built the program into one of the most successful in the Bay Area. His team slumped to an 0-5 record in the EBAL this past season, however. At a post-season banquet, he revealed that he had been dismissed as coach.

Houston's replacement will be screened by a committee, according to Henderson, one including players, coaches faculty and administrators from the high school. The committee's choice will be passed on to the school board for approval.

Henderson said the new football coach will have to be a man who can "get along" with all types of people, who can place football in perspective with the rest of the educational program, and who can teach well. He'll also have to encourage support from the student body and the community, Henderson said.

He emphasized that his list of qualifications shouldn't imply a lack of success in those areas by the outgoing Houston.

Chances are about one-in-two, Henderson said, that a teaching post will open up at San Ramon to allow screening of coaching candidates. Presumably the position would fall into the physical education realm. But the P.E. department is undergoing change due to recent legislation which makes the course an elective. P.E. enrollment could decline next year, precluding the necessity of another teacher.

Then, perhaps, Henderson will be forced to hire from within his own faculty, without interviewing outside candidates.

"Predicted enrollment is up for next year," said Henderson, however; "So maybe we will be able to increase the staff."

It will be almost impossible, though, to select a coach prior to that April 1 date when projections for next year will be forthcoming.

Polished Ashe smokin'

Arthur Ashe was the best tennis player in the world at end of the year 1975. Arthur even dressed the part when he was in Stockholm for the season-ending Commercial Union Masters.

He went out one brisk Arctic day and bought a bearskin coat for 5,000 Swedish Kroner (about $1,150), which he considered cheap — the store owner knew Bjorn Borg, a national hero, and gave Arthur $500 off.

It was a rare indulgence for Ashe, who says that he shuns materialism and has capitulated to whim only one time in his life.

"I was in Hong Kong," he reminisced, "and I always wanted a watch. So I just went out and got it, the most expensive Rolex made. It's quadrupled in price since, retails for about $2,800 now."

Somewhere in a bank vault, Arthur also has a gold tennis ball worth $33,333.33, part of the loot for winning the WCT last May.

"That," he said, "is not an indulgence."

Arthur was reflective as he finished out his most satisfying year on earth. At the age of 32, he is the best, the winner of the Martini & Rossi award by an international panel of experts. Even Ilie Nastase, the ribald Romanian who won the prestigious season-ending Masters, agreed.

Arthur, who had a history of finishing second since he became a ranking player in 1963, won at Wimbledon and also picked off seven other tournament championships, in addition to the WCT finals.

"Tennis," he said, "is becoming more of a profession in every sense of the word. Life on the circuit is a lot different than it was in the amateur days. You didn't play nearly as much then. You played more for the love of the game than you did for the bread and butter. I don't think one took the game as seriously 10 years ago."

How has tennis shaped him as a person?

"If I'd spent most of my life in Virginia, I'd have an entirely different outlook on life. I'd speak with a different accent, too." (Arthur's speech is virtually indistinguishable for origin.)

Why did he achieve stability suddenly in the last year after so many years as a world class player?

"I don't even try to analyze it. I could care less. It happens, it happens. I'm gratified, but I'm not going to sit down and figure out why. The reasons don't matter to me."

At the age of 32, does he still have the same enthusiasm for the game?

"No. I can't be as enthused as some 19-year-old who's just come out to try the circuit after two years of college. That doesn't mean I'm not as dedicated. I'm just not as excited. To me, it's just like a job It's like your first reporting assignment. You're not like some graduate student coming out of Columbia for his first assignment."

As a bachelor without any obvious ties, and with only a small apartment in New York as home, doesn't he miss settling down?

"No, I'm a nomad anyway. Why does one have to have a house with things in it — cars and so forth?

County sets service unit hearings

OAKLAND — The proposed reorganization of the Alameda County Social Services Agency will be the subject of two hearings in February.

The Social Services Agency, one of the largest administrative units in Alameda County government, includes the welfare and human relations departments. Under the proposed changes, the departments will be realigned into Economic Benefits and Human Services Departments.

The changes are designed to streamline management of the 2,000 employe agency. There will be little change in service to the public, they promise.

Details on the plan are available from the agency in Room 500, 401 Broadway, Oakland (tel 874-5008.)

The hearings are: Tuesday, Feb. 10, 2 p.m. at the county public works building, 399 Elmhurst St., Hayward;

Wednesday, Feb. 11, 7 p.m. in the Assembly Room, California State Building, 1111 Jackson St., Oakland.

Students start scholarship scramble

Local high school and community college students this coming week begin competing for $300,000 in cash awards in Bank of America's two annual scholarship programs.

In all, more than 300,000 graduating seniors and 160,000 second - year college students from throughout the state will participate in the Achivement Awards and Community College Awards programs.

Faculty committees in each high school will select top students in each of four general study areas — fine arts, science and mathematics, liberal arts and vocational arts — to compete March 24 in semi-final zone competitions.

Zone winners in Northern California will move on to five regional finals and the chance to win one of 20 first-place awards of $1,000. Second and third-place winners each receive $750 and $500, respectively. All other finalists receive $250 awards.

In the Community College Awards program, faculty committees select top students in business, science - engineering, social science humanities, and technical-vocational. These winners will compete March 23 in area events and those winners — two in each of four categories — move on to the finals in San Francisco. Finalists in each field earn top awards of $2,000 each, with second-place students winning $1,000 and third-place winners $500. All other finalists are awarded $250.

The Achivement Awards program is in its 28th year and the program for community colleges is in its 23rd year. Both programs are designed to recognize and honor students whose scholarship, leadership and sense of civic responsibility give most promise of future success and service to society.

"While scholastic ability is the major factor in the selection of the winners in each program," program coordinator Lee Gomez explains, "participation in school and community activities is also evaluated to reflect the student's total accomplishments."

'Critical thinking' workshop scheduled

LIVERMORE — Thinking critically and being able to solve problems: One of life's big skills not taught in school.

Or is it? Teachers are now beginning to teach those essential skills, side by side with 'ritin and 'rithmetic. But learning how to teach critical thinking is something teachers must absorb before they can pass it on to their students.

Lee Thompson, Livermore's secondary education chief, is teaming up with San Leandro high school teacher Barbara Brown, who is also East Bay Council for the Social Studies president, to lead a workshop for teachers Saturday (Feb. 7) on "Strategies to Introduce Problem Solving."

The leaders will guide participants through classroom activities designed to teach critical thinking and problem solving skills for both elementary and secondary classes. Dominican College offers one semester unit of credit to participants.

Decision-making is a keystone of the new approach to teaching social tudies. Having students learn to approch problems from the personal to the international level with a recognition that options and alternatives are open to them and should be considered before actions are taken is an important objective of the "new social studies."

Both Thompson and Brown are noted statewide for their expertise in the field. Workshop participants will receive a 100 - page syllabus containing activities, lesson plans, teaching tips and a bibliography of supplementary simulations and activities.

Teachers interested in signing up for the one-day workshop may contact Thompson at the Livermore School District office

CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PLEASANTON ALAMEDA COUNTY, CALIFORNIA
ORDINANCE NO. 775
AN ORDINANCE AMENDING IN ITS ENTIRETY ARTICLE 2 (WATER CONNECTION FEES), CHAPTER 9 (WATER), TITLE II (ZONING AND DEVELOPMENT) OF THE MUNICIPAL CODE OF THE CITY OF PLEASANTON.
THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF PLEASANTON DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:
Section 1. Article 2 (Water Connection Fees), Chapter 9 (Water), Title II (Zoning and Development) is hereby amended in its entirety to read as follows:
Article 2
Water Connection Fees
Sec.2-16.21 Connection Charges. To establish appropriate provisions for the construction and expansion of the water system of the City, including transmission mains, storage and pumping facilities, and to be assured that the cost of such construction and expansion is borne by those who receive the benefits thereof, there is hereby established connection charges for all connections made to the water system of the City after the effective date of Ordinance No. 466, September 9, 1966.
The amount of the connection charge shall be in accordance with the amount specified in the Resolution Establishing Various Fees and Charges for Municipal Services of the City of Pleasanton.
Water connection charges shall be paid for all new construction connected to the water system regardless of the fact that the construction may be replacing an existing use that was demolished or discontinued on that property. The charge shall be the difference between the current connection fee of the time of construction and any connection fee previously paid by that property. However, water connection charges shall not be levied for temporary uses. For the purpose of this article temporary uses shall mean those uses which are reasonably expected to be completed and removed within six months of the connection. The Director of Public Works shall determine whether a use is a temporary one, subject to final determination by the City Council in the event of an appeal. The Director of Public Works may extend the period in which no connection fee is paid for a period to not exceed an additional six months, upon finding that the use shall be concluded within that time period.
All revenues derived from the connection charges herein provided for shall be deposited in the Water Improvement Fund.
Sec.2-16.22 Developer's Obligations.
a. All developers will be required to:
1. Construct at their sole expense all of the in-tract and perimeter facilities directly required by their development, as shown by an approved engineering design and in accordance with the Design Guide of the City.
2. Pay the connection charges established by Section 2-16.21.
3. Reimburse to the City the required front foot charges applicable to existing water lines, either perimeter or main extensions. Funds from such front foot charges shall be deposited by City in the Water Improvement Fund.
4. Reimburse to the City the required amounts in accordance with any outstanding mutual benefit district or reimbursement agreements applicable.
b. Developer may also be required to construct off-tract water facilities extensions to serve developer's property; or to oversize certain in-tract, perimeter or off-tract facilities; or to construct facilities normally considered to be of general City obligation. In such cases developer shall be entitled to apply to the City for reimbursement pursuant to a reimbursement agreement.
c. The City, in its sole discretion, shall determine the adequacy of the design of any addition to the City water system and the necessity for oversizing main extension and construction of facilities of general City obligation by developers.
d. All water facilities constructed by developer up to and including the service line shall become the property of the City.
Sec.2-16.23 City's Obligations. The City recognizes that transmission mains and storage and pumping facilities as shown on the Master Plan for "Water Facilities Required in City of Pleasanton Planning Area for Ultimate Development of City" and certain larger distribution mains may be of benefit to more than one developer, and therefore are facilities of general City obligation to be financed by the City out of connection charges or other sources of general City revenue.
Sec.2-16.24 Reimbursement.
a. Construction of City facilities. In the event that City in its best judgment determines that developer must construct and finance facilities that are City's obligation, then developer shall be reimbursed directly for the costs of such construction by considering such costs to be in lieu payment of the connection charges specified in Section 2-16.21, to the extent of such costs only (or at City's option, developer may be reimbursed in the manner prescribed in sub-paragraph (b) hereof). If developer's costs exceed the total connection charges due, then developer shall be reimbursed the excess amount in the manner prescribed in sub-paragraph b. hereof.
b. Oversizing. In the event that City in its best judgment determined that developer must construct and finance a larger in-tract, perimeter or off-tract main extension than is necessary for his development alone, then developer shall be reimbursed for the cost of the oversize by reimbursement agreement with the City. The term of said agreement shall not exceed seven years, and if full reimbursement has not been made by such time the developer will not be entitled to further reimbursement under that agreement. The cost of the oversize shall be calculated by taking the difference in cost between what was installed and what would have been required to serve developer's property alone. Such costs shall be established by the Director of Public Works.
c. Perimeter mains. In the event that City in its best judgment determines that developer must construct and finance a perimeter main, then developer shall be reimbursed by reimbursement agreement for one-half of the cost of the perimeter main. Such agreement shall provide among other things that reimbursement will be on the basis of the front footage of land that develops along the perimeter main itself. The term of such agreement shall not exceed seven years and if full reimbursement has not been made by such time the developer will not be entitled to apply for or receive any reimbursement from front footage fees from land which cannot be served by his perimeter main as the result of some barrier such as a State freeway, railroad track, drainage canal or boundary line of the master water plan area.
d. Main Extensions. In the event that developer must construct and finance an off-tract main extension, then developer shall be reimbursed by reimbursement agreement. Such agreement shall provide among other things that reimbursement will be on the basis of the front footage of land that develops along the main extension in proportion to the total front footage of the main itself considering both sides. The term of such agreement shall not exceed seven years, and if full reimbursement has not been made by such time the developer will not be entitled to further reimbursement under that agreement. Provided further, however, that developer shall not be entitled to apply for or receive any reimbursement from front footage fees from land which cannot be served by the main extension as the result of some barrier such as a State freeway, railroad track, drainage canal or boundary line of the master water plan area.
Sec. 2-16.25 Special Funds. There is hereby established a special fund as follows:
a. Water Improvement Fund. This fund shall be established from the revenue received from Water Connection Charges as defined in Section 2-16.21.
Sec. 2-16.26 Adjustments and Exceptions. Upon application, and good cause shown, after a public hearing, the City Council may in its sole discretion modify or waive any of the charges herein provided for or make whatever adjustments and exceptions to the requirements of this article that the City Council may deem necessary in order to vary or modify the strict application of the terms of this article in cases in which there are practical difficulties or unusual hardshipe in the way of such strict applications or in the interest of justice. Applications may be made by developers or by City.
Sec.2-16.27 Advance-in-Aid.
a. When the City Council determines that the best interests of the City will be served by construction of a water main, it may agree to an advance-in-aid to be paid upon acceptance of completed water main construction. Said advance-in-aid may be for all or any part of cost of said water main extension.
b. Source of monies for such advance-in-aid shall be the Water Improvement Fund of the City, or any other source approved by the City Council.
c. Each application for advance-in-aid under this section shall include the following items which shall be evaluated by the City Council prior to allocation of funds:
1. Requested amount of advance.
2. Any public purpose which may be served.
3. Number of acres served in the development.
4. Potential fees from the development.
5. Any direct benefit to the Water System.
d. The City Council may approve or reject any or all parts of any application made for advance-in-aid under this section. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed as requiring the City to spend all or any part of monies in the Water Improvement Fund.
Sec. 2-16.28 Payment of Fees.
a. Connection charges shall be paid at the time of application for a building permit or installation of a water meter, whichever comes first.
b. Front foot charges shall be paid for all of a property fronting an existing line for which reimbursement is due prior to the time that any part of that property is connected to the water system. This will normally be at the time of approval of a final map for new subdivisions or at the time of application for a building permit or meter installation for other than subdivisions.
Sec. 2-16.29 Credits. A credit against connection charges may be permitted for all lands subject to annexation agreements or subdivision agreements executed prior to the effective date of this article or for facilities of general City obligation which have been installed by Assessment Districts, Benefit Districts or other methods not financed by the City. This credit shall be calculated by the Director of Public Works, and shall be prorated where necessary, and shall be subject to final determination by the City Council in the event of appeal.
Article 2 is based on Ordinance No. 466 as amended by Ordinance No. 757.
Section 2. This ordinance shall become effective thirty (30) days after the date of its final passage and adoption.
Section 3. This ordinance shall be published once within fifteen (15) days after its adoption in "THE TIMES," a newspaper of general circulation, published in the City of Pleasanton.

Report from Philip Morris

Tar/Taste Theory Exploded.

New 9 mg. tar MERIT with 'Enriched Flavor'™ proves taste no longer depends on amount of tar.

Until now, cigarette flavor pretty much depended on the amount of tar that went along with it.

Regardless of "low tar, good taste" claims, regardless of fancy filters and "space-age" filtering systems—you couldn't get high taste without high tar.

Nor low tar without low taste.

That was the theory.

Until now.

This is another report on MERIT from Philip Morris. If you smoke, you'll be interested.

Low Tar, Good Taste: Filters Fall Short

At first, we tried designing special filters, too. Like others, our results were generally disappointing.

These results confirmed a belief that if there was any way to get flavor—real flavor—into a low tar cigarette, the answer had to lie somewhere in the tobacco itself.

So we focused on the business end of smoking. The tobacco end. And decided if we wanted to get more flavor through to you, we'd just have to start with more.

After a twelve year effort, our Richmond Research Center succeeded. They isolated the "key" flavor ingredients of tobacco as they exist in cigarette smoke.

By adding only those natural ingredients of extreme high quality as flavor contributors, yet low tar producing as well, they were able to pack MERIT with 'Enriched Flavor'—without the usual corresponding increase in tar.

MERIT and MERIT MENTHOL

'Enriched Flavor.' It's extra flavor. Natural flavor. Flavor that can't burn out, can't drop out, can't do anything but come through for you.

Read the taste-test results for yourself.

Taste-Tested By People Like You

9 mg. tar MERIT was taste-tested against five current leading low tar brands ranging from 11 mg. to 15 mg. tar.

Thousands of filter smokers were involved, smokers like yourself, tested at home.*

The results were conclusive.

Even if the cigarette tested had 60% more tar than MERIT, a significant majority of all smokers tested reported new 'Enriched Flavor' MERIT delivered more taste.

Repeat: delivered more taste.

In similar tests against 11 mg. to 15 mg. menthol brands, 9 mg. tar MERIT MENTHOL performed strongly too, delivering as much —or more—taste than the higher tar brands tested.

You've been smoking "low tar, good taste" claims long enough. Now you've got the cigarette.

MERIT. Incredible smoking pleasure at one of the lowest tar levels in smoking today—only 9 mg. tar.
